

Central Council Bell Ringing Video Competition Entries and Results

Some people will know all about this competition and may even have submitted a video, but I am sure that there are many people out there who do not. This is for them. Last year the Central Council ran a competition where people made videos about ringing. There were several different categories – best striking on 6 bells, most unusual or interesting bell ringing video, best striking on 8 or more bells, film that promotes ringing in the most positive way, film that demonstrates ringing not on tower bells, and most effective instructional video. The aim was to showcase ringing and show it in a good light. There are some excellent videos here with a great variety of subjects which I am sure that many people would enjoy dipping into. Most of the videos last from two to six minutes. There was a winner in each category and an overall winner. You can view all the entries, the winner in each category and the overall winner here - <https://cccbr.org.uk/youtube-competition/>

It might be especially good for those who find themselves having to spend a lot of time at home on their own at the present time. It could even be enjoyed by people who don't ring – one of the aims of the competition was to impress people and interest them in what ringers do – what a very good way of finding some new recruits!!! Please forward this email and link to all your ringers, and anyone else that you feel might be interested.
